You are most like The Planner

Planners are driven to put structure and systems around goals, translating ideas into practical and achievable plans. They tend to be planful, methodical and results-oriented.

A goal without a plan is like having a ship without a navigational system—you know where you want to go, but don't know how you're going to get there. Planners gather and translate data and information from available sources to develop focused plans that improve the likelihood of achieving goals and objectives.

Typical Planners have the ability to gather and evaluate relevant information, facts, and data and organize it effectively. They work through information and data systematically to make sure it falls into proper order. They don't necessarily mind being directed to goals and objectives that their plans work toward, rather than being the one responsible for putting them in place.

Other distinguishing characteristics include setting ambitious goals and tenaciously pursuing them until they're accomplished. They think through things in a structured and methodical way. They are good at getting ahead of events so that they're ready with a plan before it's needed, minimizing risk and uncertainty. They apply logic and practicality so that plans have a high probability of success. They tend to be less inclined to spend too much effort seeking new, unconventional methods if tried and true ones can work.

While they take initiative and are likely strong executors themselves, the key to taking on more responsibility lies in managing others to implement plans for them. Some Planners may be less inclined towards people management, while others may be more. In any case, seeking out and learning to engage productively with others who are different than themselves—be it more emergent and less organized, or more people-oriented—will serve them well in the long run.

Planner Talents

- Taking direction and seeing the future with a balanced sensibility for how things really work
- Collecting and making sense of numerous data points and information
- Developing, adjusting, and creating backup plans
- Applying reason and practicality to decisions and choices
- Developing precise schedules and timelines
- Reliable execution

Planner Growth Needs

- Being patient with people who are less organized and diligent than them
- Recognizing that perfection is difficult and can be stressful to achieve
- Understanding that the impact of emotions on their plans can't be perfectly accounted for
- Staying flexible and not overly rigid; things don't always go as planned

You also have attributes of the Strategist and the Quiet Leader

The Strategist

Strategists are adept at generating and translating concepts and ideas into effective strategies to achieve results. They tend to be both conceptual and structured thinkers, curious and open-minded, while also being reliable and pragmatic.

The Quiet Leader

Quiet Leaders focus on leading themselves and others through their open-mindedness and their equanimity in facing challenges - often leading as much through "taking in" as "putting out". They tend to be more reserved, reflective, both determined and humble, composed under pressure while also being inspiring and demanding leaders.

Here are the archetypes you are least like.

The Entertainer

Entertainers are driven by creating experiences and engaging with the world and particularly the people in it. They tend to be outgoing, original, agile, energetic, joyful and lighthearted.

The Individualist

Individualists walk to the beat of their own drum and find unique ways of expressing themselves and their originality. They tend to be creative, independent, expressive, perceptive and at times sensitive and dramatic.

How you respond in different situations:

Now that you've reviewed your detailed results, "You" in Context gives insight into how the combination of your attributes may play out in a variety of work and life situations.

When interacting with others, you...

- ...Prefer to spend time with a small circle of close contacts
- ...Tend to be more serious than humorous and lighthearted
- ...Are generally willing to tell people honestly what you think and hold them accountable when needed
- ...May not always be aware of the feelings and needs of others
- ...Generally take care of your own needs and expect others to as well

As a leader, you...

- ...May not be the first to take charge, but step up when called upon
- ...Alternate between being direct and diplomatic depending on what you see as required in the situation
- ...Use your creativity to lead and motivate others
- ...Like drawing out the thinking of others for input, but ultimately make your own calls
- ...Believe acknowledging your and other people's strengths and weaknesses is part of being a good leader
- ...Influence others more subtly, offering direction when asked
- ...Assert yourself when necessary, even though it's not always natural to you

When planning, you...

- ...Anticipate and plan for change by creating good contingency plans
- ...Find that change is best viewed as an opportunity to create more structure and clarity, not a problem to be avoided
- ...Drive hard toward clear, specific goals
- ...Like to identify precisely what's needed to achieve goals
- ...Operate best with a well-structured and fleshed-out plan to track progress against
- ...Track progress diligently against targets
- ...Make a strong effort to complete tasks early

When solving problems, you...

- ...Like to draw on other people's thinking to stress test your own ideas
- ...Explore a wide range of possibilities before deciding
- ...Are comfortable finding solutions without much direction or guidance
- ...Are quick to put structure and precision around vague ideas
- ...Are fascinated when solutions aren't obvious
- ...Explore the unknown rationally
- ...Believe that the best outcomes are a result of combining imagination, logic, and rigor
- ...Balance exploring new possibilities with the need to take decisive action

When setting goals, you...

- ...Strive beyond what's possible, or seems achievable to others
- ...Generally prefer to go after your own goals rather than following others
- ...Are both goal-directed and flexible
- ...Face resistance and obstacles by adapting, improvising, and overcoming

On a team, you...

- ...May be hesitant to share ideas until you've fully thought them through
- ...Don't get too caught up in other people's problems and issues
- ...May be slower to reach out or perceive when others need support
- ...Like to work independently on tasks without too much interaction or direction
- ...Are motivated by challenging goals, and balance diplomatic and direct approaches when expectations aren't met
- ...Do what's needed to achieve your goals, and expect others to do the same

Under stress, you...

- ...Remain calm, cool, and focused on what matters most
- ...Adapt to new experiences rather than avoid them
- ...Calmly turn mistakes into self-growth and learning rather than let them get you down
- ...Confidently believe that you can manage your stress without much support from others
- ...Tend to be confident and resilient no matter how ambitiously you set your goals
- ...Keep your emotions close to your chest

When learning, you...

- ...Prefer topics that are logical and objective over those that are intuitive and subjective
- ...Pay very close attention to facts and data
- ...Prefer an organized curriculum and following a clear schedule
- ...Take your deadlines and commitments seriously
- ...May lose interest when subjects get theoretical
- ...Like to read, analyze, and process before sharing ideas and conclusions
- ...Like to reflect and hear other perspectives before speaking up yourself
- ...Love exploring new areas of interest you don't yet know about
- ...Love a good brainstorm
- ...Like subjects that are abstract and philosophical
- ...Like to study in peace and quiet where you can focus
- ...Like to watch, read, and write
- ...Are interested in creative topics where your curiosity and originality can thrive
- ...Need mental breaks to recharge when you study
